WHEN YOU REALLY NEED TO FIND THE FAIRWAY

Sometimes we stand on the tee box, staring trouble in the face, knowing full well that the Driver isn't the answer. In this scenario, how often do you let your ego get the better of you?

In this article we look at one of the most famous examples of reason going out the window, and discuss the benefits of having one particular 'course management' tool in the bag...

ONE SIZE DOES NOT FIT ALL

Here's some trivia for you; does an 18° Hybrid do the same job as an 18° Fairway Wood?

The answer of course is "No" (scroll down further in the newsletter and you'll see we conducted a test to prove it) but that hasn't stopped many golfers taking Fairways out of their bags, replacing them 'like for like' with those easy to hit Hybrids. This set 'self medication' is a problem, and here are five very good reasons why:

1. Hybrid designs are 'easier to hit' than long Irons, not Fairways (they just have shorter shafts).
2. There is absolutely no industry standard dictating what loft any number Hybrid should have.
3. There aren't any standards dictating what lofts Fairway Woods should have either!
4. A correct Hybrid swing is more 'descending', whereas a Fairway Wood swing is more 'sweeping'.
5. Even with identical swings, design variances between Fairways & Hybrids deliver completely different results

These are two very different clubs, designed for different swings, to do different jobs. Now combine the two properly and you have a 'go-to' club for every lie, every scenario, and every distance; all you need to do is make the swing!

"Why can't I do it myself?" you ask... Take a look at the image below.

HYBRID OR FAIRWAY?

As design boundaries become increasingly blurred, so it becomes more difficult to separate Hybrids from Fairways; but you have to if you want to make meaningful improvements in your long game.

Click the button below to view the key design elements that make these two clubs unique. (PS - It's a Hybrid)

WHAT'S DIFFERENT? >

Unfortunately, integrating and distance mapping Hybrids and Fairways is a complicated task (and the long game is difficult enough as it is) so please, don't do it yourself.

If you have any doubts about your set make-up then come and see your Performance Golf Professional. Just click the button on the right to book yourself in for an assessment & distance mapping session.

BOOK ME IN!

If however, you're happy with the set and would like to work on the technique then click below and book yourself in for a lesson. The first twenty golfers to book will receive a complimentary 2-Ball Pack of the Best Fitting* Bridgestone Golf Ball for their individual game.
